

his office. He had already received a letter from the Mayor regarding the detailing of men from the Police Department to the District Attorney's office but had failed to give it to the press in accordance with his usual custom in handling official correspondence.

"When answering Judge Swann's letter I merely called the District Attorney's attention to the Mayor's letter; that speaks for itself."

"MY DUTY IS PLAIN," SAYS MR. WHITMAN.

"My duty is plain, and I propose to do it," was Mr. Whitman's reply to a question regarding the course of action he intends to pursue. When asked if there were a law under which his "plain duty" might be performed, he referred his questioners to the City Charter, section 270 of which reads:

"The said (Police) Commissioner may, whenever in the judgment of the Mayor of said city, or the Governor, the public interests should so require, be removed from office by either, and shall be ineligible for reappointment thereto."

The letter from Enright read:

City of New York Police Department.

Office of the Commissioner.

Jan. 15, 1921.

Hon. Edward Swann, District Attorney, Criminal Courts Building, New York.

Dear Sir: Replying to your letter of the 13th inst., requesting that Acting Detective Sergeant Alfred Thomas be assigned to your office, I have the honor to direct your attention to the following communication addressed to you by His Honor the Mayor on the 8th inst.:

"You asked me yesterday if the Grand Jury could have six men from the Detective Bureau if they requested them. The statements made by the Senator and Assemblyman had some bearing on the Police Department, and if these legislators or the persons they represented their information from have any evidence of wrongdoing on the part of any member of the Police Department, it is the duty of this Administration, let them present their evidence to the Grand Jury, and let the Grand Jury take the proper action."

"The police are doing police work, and their entire time should be continued doing police work. It would be entirely improper for the police officers from the Police Department to be assigned to investigate themselves."

"Again, may I repeat that if these people have any evidence or know of any one violating the law let them come forward with the facts and present them to the Grand Jury."

Very truly yours,

R. E. ENRIGHT, Police Commissioner.

WHY HYLAN IS LIKELY TO BE INCLUDED.

The reference in the foregoing to a letter written by the Mayor to Mr. Swann Jan. 5 is the first news of such a communication. It was on Jan. 11 that the Mayor refused to see Mr. Swann, and sent a letter through his secretary to Mr. Swann, stating that it was "highly improper" for them to have a conference.

Mr. Mayor Hylan is correctly quoted by the Police Commissioner in his letter of Jan. 13, which was received by Mr. Swann yesterday. It is said there is little doubt Mr. Whitman will include the Mayor in any request he may make of Governor Miller. Mr. Whitman's attitude regarding his procedure in the face of these unexpected developments was made clear to newspaper editors by a statement.

"It is my duty to obtain the assistance of the Police Department, and I propose to do it. It is the duty of the Police Department to render all the assistance in its power in investigating, detecting, preventing and punishing crime, whether the crime may have been committed by a member of the Police Department or by any one else. It is also its duty to render the assistance requested and requested of it by the courts, judges and District Attorneys in the city."

"In the first place, the letter written by Mr. Swann to Police Commissioner Enright did not ask for police assistance. The Police Department, and there is nothing before the Police Department or the Mayor to indicate that the services requested of the Police Department in this investigation necessarily involved such police officials investigating the Police Department."

WHITMAN CAUTIONS ON "TOD BUS" PLEA.

"What do you intend to do?" Mr. Whitman was asked, and it was to this question he replied his duty was plain and he proposed to do it. He was then asked if the Mayor's provision in the City Charter covering the question of the police being compelled to assist in an investigation of this character was not in its evident duty, whether it is specifically set forth or not. The Police Commissioner is answerable to the Mayor of the City and to the Governor of the State. The District Attorney is the chief criminal officer of the law in the county, a constitutional officer, not an officer created by the City Charter.

Mr. Whitman was asked if the Police Commissioner should claim, as he has done indirectly in the letter, that there is now sufficient work on another nature to keep all his men busy, would he not be justified in selecting the kind of men he should perform, and would he not have the right to insist they are too busy with other duties to undertake to aid in the investigation.

"Apparently the police have not hesitated to render all the assistance and give all the police service asked for by certain business houses in the uptown districts—when they have been paid for it."

This statement was further evidence that Mr. Whitman has information for the Grand Jury that graft on the part of policemen is not confined to one precinct. It is said he has documentary evidence to show policemen have been paid for performing special services for private concerns in at least five precincts.

When he was asked the question, "Do you intend to ask for the immediate removal of Enright, or Hylan, or both?" Mr. Whitman would not answer yes or no, but more than once he told his questioners they were "more than twenty-one years old" and more than once he repeated the assertion: "My duty is plain."

After the interview, the comment of one of his intimates was:

"Mr. Whitman is thoroughly aroused. Nothing will stop him, now that he has received this direct refusal."

SENATORS STUDY HUGHES' PROPOSITION FOREIGN POLICY

Utterances on League Covenant Recalled as Post in Cabinet Seems Assured.

By David Lawrence.

(Special Correspondent of The Evening World.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15 (Copyright, 1921).—The practical certainty that Charles Evans Hughes will be Secretary of State in the Harding cabinet has led some members of the Senate to take a retrospective glance at the views of the former Associate Justice, not on legal or political questions, but his utterances on foreign policy, which during the campaign had passing value, but which now will become the basis of American action after March 4.

"It should be remembered," wrote Mr. Hughes on one occasion, "that the great protection against war for a considerable period of years will be found not in any form of words that may now be adopted, but in economic conditions which are an assurance that for a considerable time at least we shall not have a recurrence of world strife."

"The danger now lies not in the menace of forces employed to further imperial designs but in the disorder due to a breakdown and the removal of traditional restraints and the tendency to revolution within states. In making commitments it should be remembered that while it is highly important that at this time we should do everything that is practicable to promote peace and to obtain stable conditions, we should be cautious in making promises which are to be redeemed in unknown contingencies."

Some of the main points in Mr. Hughes' criticism of the present covenant of the League of Nations are as follows:

Omitting the guaranty in Article X.

Suitable limitations as to the field of the League's inquiries and action so as to leave no doubt that the internal concerns of states, such as immigration and tariff laws, are not embraced.

Provision that no foreign power shall acquire by conquest, purchase or in any other way, any possession of the American continent or the islands adjacent thereto.

Provision that the settlement of purely American questions shall be limited to the principle of the American nations, and that European nations shall not intervene unless requested to do so by the American nations.

Provision that no member of the League shall be constituted a mandatory without its consent, and no European or Asiatic power shall be constituted a mandatory of any American people.

Explicit provision that unanimous agreement or decision is required for any action.

The paragraph, however, which makes it possible for Mr. Hughes to approach the Harding campaign view of the League issue and his own early inclinations toward modification of the present covenant of the League.

It is a fact to suppose that helpful co-operation in the future will be assured by the attempted compulsion of an inflexible rule, rather than the cooperation which depends upon the fostering of firm friendships springing from an appreciation of community of ideals, interests and purposes.

Provision that no member of the League may withdraw at its pleasure on a specified notice.

AUTO BANDITS SHOOT PAYMASTER AND FLEE WITH $6,000 IN LOOT

The moment the bag was wrenched from Gunther's weakening fingers the two who had got out of the car jumped in and the car leaped into top speed. It went east to Second Avenue, turned south to 25th Street, then west, and disappeared.

Meanwhile residents along the block, having heard the shot, appeared at their windows and doors. There was a chorus of police whistles.

But some witnesses say it was at least fifteen minutes before a policeman arrived. This may be an exaggeration, as nobody claims to have measured the time, and it might seem longer than it was.

Patrolman Hitz, on post at Third Avenue and 25th Street, where the passing of elevated trains over his head might account for his failure to hear the shot or the whistles, was the first to arrive. He commanded a truck and took Gunther to Bellevue Hospital. He was placed on the operating table, where it was found that the bullet had grazed the apex of the heart, took a diagonal course downward, penetrating the stomach and lodging at the twelfth rib.

One of the eyewitnesses of the robbery was Irving Kleinman, fourteen years old, of No. 292 De Kalb Avenue, Brooklyn, an office boy employed at No. 231 East 25th Street. He said he was just across the street from the paymaster and the guard. He said four men, instead of two, got out of the automobile, leaving only the driver in the car.

He said all he bandits were dark overcoats and caps. He said the car was a Cadillac, and he was sure of this, for he said he had made it a hobby to learn how to distinguish all makes of automobiles at a glance. The number on the license plate, he said, was 248,921.

The police, however, sent out a general alarm for a car with the license number 248,921. It was learned that this number belongs to David Greenbaum, No. 1119 East 12th Street, Brooklyn. Mrs. Greenbaum told reporters that the car had been stolen a week ago at 25th Street and 5th Avenue. This was a 1920 Chandler. Reporters who tried to question the police about the discrepancy of reports on the numbers of the cars were ordered out of the East 25th Street Station.

Detectives McDonald and Burns were assigned to the robbery and shooting. At the plant the superintendent, who said his name was Smith, declared that neither the paymaster nor the guard carried any weapon. Another report was that Gunther had a revolver and was trying to get it out when he was shot.

The police records show that an attempt was made last summer to rob the same paymaster and the same guard, but that attempt was made when there were more people on the scene, and the outcome of the intended victims drove the bandits away.

Among those most frequently mentioned in political circles as likely to be charged with the task by President Millerand were Poincaré, Senator Jonart and M. Bonnevay.

It is said that the former Premier of France, who was asked to form a Cabinet, he will reply this evening.

As Robert Teale of No. 240 Moffatt Street was passing the four-story apartment house at No. 571 Quincy Street, Brooklyn, early today he saw smoke coming from the hallway on the ground floor. He aroused the janitor, Benjamin Oakley, and the two awakened the four families, sent in an alarm and succeeded in putting out the fire, which was under a stairway, before the apparatus arrived.

Although the Fire Marshal is investigating, it is believed the blaze was not incendiary, but was caused by a light cigarette dropped by some one seeking shelter.

GLEAVES IS TO SET FACTS IN SHOOTING OF NAVAL OFFICER

Admiral Will Take Court of Inquiry to Vladivostok Next Week, He Tells Washington.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Despite Japanese assurances of regret and precautions to prevent a recurrence, a thorough investigation will be made by the United States Government of the killing of Lieut. W. H. Langdon, American naval officer, at Vladivostok by a Japanese sentry.

Admiral Gleaves, Commander in Chief of the Asiatic Fleet, reported to the Navy Department from Manila that he had appointed a court of inquiry "to investigate the circumstances surrounding the death of Lieut. Langdon." He added that he, with members of the court, would leave Manila next Thursday aboard his flagship, the troop transport Huron, for Vladivostok.

Renewed assurances of regret over the affair came from the Japanese Government in a note transmitted to the State Department through Baron Shidehara, the Japanese Ambassador. This note also indicated that the Japanese Government was desirous of preventing a recurrence of such a happening, and despatched announced that the Japanese military authorities at Vladivostok had been instructed not to challenge Americans in the future.

The note transmitted to Tokyo last night was more comprehensive than a mere inquiry into the killing of Lieut. Langdon. It is understood that it questioned the right of Japanese soldiers to challenge Americans in Vladivostok and insisted upon such alteration of the Japanese attitude as to make impossible a recurrence of such an incident.

The note is said to have reminded the Japanese of the fact that this was not the first unpleasant incident between Japanese and Americans, and to have alleged that in a majority of the cases the responsibility for the trouble reaching the State Department was the Japanese appear to have been the aggressors.

BRIAND TO FORM FRENCH CABINET.

Former Premier Agrees to Attempt Task After Peret Gives It Up.

PARIS, Jan. 15 (Associated Press).—Aristide Briand, former Premier, agreed this evening to attempt the formation of a Cabinet in succession to the Leagues Ministry, which resigned Wednesday.

Raoul Peret, designated by President Millerand to form the new Cabinet, announced today he was unable to perform the task.

His failure to complete a Ministry, following overthrow of the Leagues Cabinet because of the Chamber of Deputies' lack of confidence in the Government's foreign policies, was regarded as extremely serious. The Supreme Council is scheduled to meet here Wednesday and unless a cabinet is formed and functioning by that time the conference may have to be postponed owing to lack of French representation.

"It is finished," Peret said upon leaving the palace. "I had hoped to organize a Cabinet which would be a union of all parties, but I cannot form any kind of a Cabinet."

CHARGE SINN FEIN WITH PLOT TO FIRE LONDON OIL YARD

One Man Arrested After Civilians Fire Upon Police Who Discover Them.

LONDON, Jan. 15.—What the police allege to be another big Sinn Fein plot to destroy property in London was uncovered in court this morning when Patrick Kenny, an Irishman, was arraigned. He was charged with being concerned with other men not yet arrested in attempting to murder two policemen and trying to set on fire barrels of oil on the premises of the Vacuum Oil Company.

The company's plant is at Wandsworth, southwest London, and 60,000 barrels, containing 2,500,000 gallons of oil, are stored there.

At 1 o'clock this morning three policemen discovered three men lurking near the vacuum company's premises, some of them apparently having just come from the yards. The police charged the group and a fierce fight followed, in which, it is alleged, several shots were fired by the civilians.

Kenny was arrested, but the others escaped. The police claim to have discovered later that elaborate preparations had been made within the vacuum company's yards for firing the oil.

Kenny declined to talk of the charges against him. The court remanded him for a week.
